William E. Carpenter, Pastor
A midsummer offering to mission was taken up in our churches last Sabbath July 11, 1964. The appeal was entitled—"The Number Who Obey Are"—. The question will be the same. If we do not give them the message for this hour. All men must know: We cannot remain silent. Christians have a God commissioned message that must be fulfilled in Rev. 14. We cannot remain the privileged few. We must face it now or we will face it in the day when the shell of earth is shattered and tasks are forever done.

There are thousands of ways to share the news and no opportunity should be overlooked working together we can accomplish much that would otherwise be impossible. Those who cannot carry the message to distant lands can support "the hands" of men and women who can. Many have dedicated their lives to the business of telling others. Their lives bespeak the coming Saviour in many new fields of missionary endeavors. Korea, Australia, Tanganyika, Argentina Germany, Canada, Japan, Pakistan, in scores of lands around the world the witness the telling goes on.

There are others who move among us who do not know the message of salvation. How can we help them? How will we face them? This has ever been the cry of sincere Christians. The answer Read John 10:14-16, Matt. 28:19,20.

The service of humility followed by the Lord's Supper was observed last Sabbath during the 11:00 o'clock worship service as found in St John Chap 13. Subject for discussion was "The Preparatory Service." Now before the feast of the passover, When Jesus knew that his hour had come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end.

Plan "Lady In White" Service

Despite the fact that the First Baptist is being remodeled, we are still conducting Sunday School and church services, as usual. We urge the parents to bring their children to Sunday School, if the parents can't find out, please send your children.

Our church services were held Sunday, July 12, with Rev Raymond Turner, of Spout Spring, the speaker. His sermon was enjoyed by all. We were very happy to have some of our members present that had moved to other cities, each of them made some very timely remarks.

"The Lady In White" being sponsored by Mrs. T. W. Hamlett will be held on the 4th Sunday July 26, 1964 at 7:30 p.m. and the ladies are requested to bring their auditoria A white Rally being sponsored by Mrs. Carrie Saunders for the benefit of the Young People's Choir will be held on the 4th Sunday, July 26, just after the morning services.

Deacon and Mrs. Julian Hamlet had their guest for a few days last week Rev. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, of New Jersey. Mrs. Robinson is Dea Hamlet's sister.

Advance Planning Aids Those Seeking Social Security

Are you planning to retire in the next few months? If this is the case, you are at least 62 years of age, you will probably be filing a claim for your social security benefits. The processing of your claim for social security benefits is often delayed because necessary evidence is not available when you file your claim.

In addition to your social security number, various other documents will be needed. For instance, if you operate your own business, it will be necessary to furnish the Social Security Administration a copy of your 1963 Federal tax return, Form 1040, Schedule C or Schedule F if you are a farmer or a farm operator, and Schedule SE. Be sure to take along an extra copy to leave with your claim. Also take your cancelled check, money order stub, or Internal Revenue Service receipt to show that your tax return was filed. Those persons who work for wages should take a copy of their 1963 Form W-2, Withholding Statement, with them when they file. Birth certificates will be needed for all your minor children, including step-children and adopted children. If you have adopted children, you must submit certified copies of the adoption decree which will remain with the claim. If your husband or wife is also filing a claim, they will need some proof of their age. This should be a birth certificate or other old document such as an insurance policy which shows their age or date of birth.

A widow who is filing a claim on the social security record of her deceased husband will need her marriage certificate and her husband's social security number.

Since your claim cannot be processed without the required evidence, days and often weeks can be saved if you have the necessary documents with you when you file your claim.

Your social security office will be glad to tell you what documents will be required for your claim. They can also help you locate these documents if you do not already have them. Call or write the Social Security District Office, 2412 Langhorne Road, phone Lynchburg, Virginia, Victor 7-8856.

Tom Harrison is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Harrison, Route 4, Appomattox. Wilfred Rogers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Extension Service Observing 50th Anniversary "Making Best Better"

The Cooperative Extension Service of the nation's 50 landgrant universities and colleges this year celebrates its 50th anniversary. It is a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and is supported by tax funds.

There are around 11,000 county extension agents. These specially trained men and women work with 4-H Club members in every state and county. There are 94,000 clubs with a membership of two and a quarter million boys and girls from rural, suburban and city families. More than 425,000 volunteer leaders supervise club work locally.

Fifty years ago, 4-H had barely gotten off the ground. Participation was small. Sponsored programs were still a dream of the founders.

Agricultural extension agents were showing young farmers how to grow better corn for higher yields. They encouraged the youngsters to raise a pig to eat the corn. The fattened hog eventually reached the Sunday dinner table.

Girls raised pigs, too, but for the most part they grew and canned tomatoes. The end product also was added to the family food supply.

The whole idea behind this unique service was to teach the children so they could prove to their parents that there were "better ways" to get the job done. So was born the 4-H slogan to: "Make the Best Better."

And right behind the Extension Service came the business men to offer encouragement and financial support to the 4-H Club efforts. They offered funds for educational material, awards, recognition events, and when called upon, provided technical assistance.

As the number of head-hands- and health youth increased, so did the scope and variety of enterprise. As the times and needs changed, industry, extension and the National 4-H Service Committee cooperated in developing new programs.

Among the 4-H backers for more than 20 consecutive years are: Armour and Company; Santa Fe Railway; Burlington Railroad; Milwaukee Railroad; Chicago & North Western Railway; Coats & Clark; Conrad Hilton Hotel; Cudahy Packing Company; Firestone Illinois Central Railroad; International Harvester; Kerr Glass Manufacturing; Livestock Conservation Incorporated; Montgomery Ward; Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Westinghouse Educational Foundation Wilson & Co., Standard Oil-Ohio) Weeks. Spiritual Life Development by Mildred McMurry will be studied with various group members leading the discussion.

Others include: Eastman Kodak; John Deere; General Foods Corp.; Mathieson Chemical Corporation; Ralston Purina.

Today 4-H'ers can learn about things such as electronics; scientific raising and care of farm animals; proper operation and maintenance of farm machinery, including the family auto; adequate measures to insure good health and safety; horticulture; entomology; photography; nutrition buying or making apparel.

There are more than 35 different project areas available to boys and girls. Approximately 55 business firms and foundations sponsor 4-H programs or provide educational assistance.

Commission Plans Appomattox Film In Present Day Setting

RICHMOND — A different kind of Civil War motion picture, filmed entirely in modern surroundings, will be made by the Virginia Civil War Commission to help mark the one-hundredth anniversary of the war's end.

The half-hour film is designed to sum up in an entertaining and meaningful way the lessons today's Americans can draw from the bloody four-year conflict. It will also give the viewer glimpses of many Civil War sites he may visit in Virginia.

Del. John Warren Cooke, Executive Committee chairman, said the Commission has awarded a contract to produce the motion picture to Fred L. Frechette, author of the script. Frechette, who will also direct the film, is scheduled to begin shooting in late July and deliver the completed film early in 1965.

Previous films made by the Commission are "From Manassas to Appomattox," which summarizes the history of the war in Virginia and two studies of great wartime leaders: "The Character of Lee' and Stonewall Jackson's Way.

The production will be released during the period commemorating the surrender at Appomattox. The Commission plans to make the film available for use in schools throughout the nation. Cooke said it will also be appropriate for adult groups.

"The film will be unique in that no battle scenes will be recreated to tell the story," Cooke said. Instead, a Confederate soldier will be seen in our present-day setting. He will be filmed in such places as the Capitol in Richmond, the Hampton Roads area, Fredericksburg, Manassas, Petersburg and Appomattox.

"The Motion picture will be a fantasy and we believe it will be thoroughly entertaining, humorous and informative as well as inspirational."

Ask And Answer On "Sound-Light"

What is a 'Sound-Light' production? Many people are asking this question as the time approaal for next year's Centennial observances — here are some answers, as given by D. Gordon Graham, Sound-Light consultant hired by Appomattox Heritage Incorporated.

What is 'Sound — Light'? Graham said it's only a telling a story using sound effects, recorded voices, and music on 'tape' which is synchronized with light cues from a master control board.

Is it an outside show? Yes. What will the viewers be charged? Only a modest fee. Perhaps $1.00 for adults, $.50 for children. Appomattox Heritage is a non-profit corporation, however.

Will salaries have to be paid? Yes. Paid to people who write the script — to the technicians who set up the lights and other equipment — to the actors and musicians who speak the lines and play the musical background and sound effects. Ushers will be needed, and ticket sellers— and there will be many inquiries and to mail out tickets and information to other localities.

When is the target date for the show? April 9, 1965.

Where will the show be shown? With National Park Service approval, the audience will be seated in an area within the Park, a section not of historic importance from which the audience can see almost all of Appomattox— especially those buildings, Meeks Store, Plantation House, Clover Hill Tavern etc. which are important to the story of Appomattox.

Has support for 'Sound-Light' production been good? Yes, Chambers of Commerce, public officials and others are interested. Anyone with accomodations and services to sell within a 20-30 mile radius of Appomattox will undoubtedly benefit from a successful show.

What will it cost? A computed over-all price: $250,000. I think the show can be produced for less than that. Extras funds can be used for publicity and to provide an endowment so that the show will continue year after year.

Three New Stamps, One New Postal Card Announced By Postmaster

A commemorative postage stamp reminding Americans to "register and vote" will be issued August 1, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski announced yesterday. The stamp will coincide with a national nonpartisan campaign aimed at the forty million Americans of voting age who are not registered. First day ceremonies for the stamp will be in Washington, D. C., Saturday, August 1, with the stamp going on nationwide sale the following Monday.

The American Heritage Foundation and the Advertising Council head the register-and-vote drive, which is backed by 35 public service organizations throughout the nation. The chairmen of both the Democratic and Republican national committees have endorsed the drive.

New postage stamps honoring binemakers and radio announcers and a postal card pointing to the important role of the Social Security system were also announced. The stamps are 5-cent denomination; the postal card 4-cent. Thas brings to 35 the number of new commemorative stamps planned for this year.

"It is our hope that the Register and Vote postage stamp will remind all Americans — regardless of party — that the franchise is both a privilege and a responsibility," Mr. Gronouski said. "When well-informed citizens vote, democracy is in safe hands."

The Homemakers commemorative postage stamp is a tribute to the American woman and also honors the celebration sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture which came into being half a century ago.

The Homemaker's stamp will be issued to mark the 50th anniversary of the passage of the Smith-Lever Act, legislation that opened the way to improved living for farm people in America by providing home economics experts to devote workon on better ways to feed and cloth their families.

Plans for the public service contributions of a quarter million licensed amateur radio operators, a stamp for "hams" will be issued. This is the 50th anniversary year of the founding of the American Radio Relay League.

"The important work done by radio 'hams' ranges from civil defense and aid to disasters to routine favors for countless thousands of Americans," Mr. Gronouski said. "Many a soldier overseas has been able to talk move the left foot forward, the right foot across, the left foot over the right foot back. . . it was the basic "box." The rhythm took care of itself. The way I learned The Charleston involved hearing 21 different steps. Then came the Black Bottom, the Ocean Roll, The Baltimore and loads of others. Once I invested a dance of my own. The Why Dance . . . you got the girl in your arms, and "why dance?"

Get Interest In Flat Yards

Do you have a back yard that is as flat as the deck of an aircraft carrier? Then, my friend, you have trouble.

The dull, ballpark look of your back yard can easily be changed. All you have to do is break up the flat areas and install some structures that give a change in elevation.

There are several ways to do this. One of the most simple is to install some baffle screens, about eight feet long, which should be treated as sectionals. They are easy to build out of light weight lumber like western red cedar. Just build a frame, maybe six feet high, of sturdy 2x4s, set into 4x4 posts. On to this frame you can build almost any sort of fence. It can be louvered, it can be board-on-board, or it can be woven to get a pattern.

Now, you must figure out where you want these screens.

The best way is to use two or three in a sort of offset sequence, like a sawtooth. Leave spacing between each one. Then plant gardens in front of these screens, or even on both sides. This will create an interest area. You may even want to build more than one such installation.

Another good structure is a pergola, which can be built over a pathway. It can be used to hide a compost pile or other unsightly areas. The pergola should be designed by an architect or someone who has skill. It can be built or ordinary lumber. The upright posts should be 4x4 inches square, and the framework can be 2x6, with lattiework in 1x4s. A good wood for this purpose is Douglas fir.

VA Answers Veterans' Questions

Here are authoritative answers to questions of interest to servicemen and their families:

Q — Can I allow my annual GI Insurance dividend to remain on deposit to meet future premiums?

A—Yes, you may. You should notify the Insurance Service of the Veterans Administration office where you pay your premiums to hold future dividends to your credit, at interest, to meet premiums if you should fail to pay when due.

Q—I served less than a year in the Army between 1942 and 1945 and was honorably discharged at my own request to accept employment in essential industry. Will I be entitled to a pension when I become 65 years old?

A—Pension may be granted at any age if a veteran has the requisite honorable service and is unable to follow substantially gainful employment due to disability.

Q—I had service during both World War II and the Korean Conflict but I have heard that the later period would be used in determining my deadline for a GI loan. Is this true?

A—Ordinarily yes. However, if the computed time based on a long period of service during World War II would establish a later deadline than a short period of service during the Korean Conflict the World War II period may be used.
